The American Society of Questioned Document Examiners was formally established on Sept. 2, 1942, by Albert S. Osborn and other pioneers in the field, and incorporated as a not-for-profit corporation on Nov. 16, 1970.

The purpose of the Society is to:

- Foster education.
- Promote justice in matters that involve disputed documents.
- Sponsor scientific research.
- Exchange experiences.
- Provide instruction in the field of document examination.

To accomplish these objectives, the ASQDE encourages members to conduct scientific research and present the results at the annual conference of members and invited guests from all over the world.

The Society also promotes continuing education in our field by providing quality workshops for document examiners and trainees.
